

Christos Ziogas

In 2013, Christos Ziogas was awarded a PhD in International Relations from the Department of International, European, and Regional Studies of Panteion University, where he taught at the undergraduate and postgraduate level until 2020. From October 2017 to October 2023, he taught in the Mediterranean Studies department of the University of the Aegean, where he was elected to the position of assistant professor of International Relations in December of the same year. Since 2016, he has been teaching International Relations as Adjunct Lecturer at Hellenic Army Academy.

He is a researcher at the Jean Monnet European Center of Excellence of the National and Kapodistrian University of Athens, and a team member of the ValeUs Research and Education Network funded by the EU as part of the Jean Monnet Policy Network (JMPN). He is also a member of the Hellenic Society of International Law and International Relations as well as a team member of the International and European Policy Laboratory of the University of Piraeus.

He teaches as an hourly paid professor at the Air Force Command and Staff College, the War College of the Navy, and the Legal School of the Armed Forces.